Course Description

This intimate course is limited to eight doctors. We strive to meet each attendee where they are in their implant journey. Cases will be assigned based on the experience and goals of the participants. All patients will be ASA 1 or 2, and all will be monitored during treatment. Participants will work in teams of two, taking turns as doctor and assistant.

You'll perform surgeries both days

All levels of implant surgery demand meticulous protocols. This course is dedicated to instilling a rock-solid foundation. We'll cover early case selection, recommended fees and scheduling, and a complete blueprint from pre-op consents to post-op guidelines. Each day, we spend about ninety minutes in lecture, and the remainder of the day you are performing surgery.

Surgeons with less experience will focus on the type of "everyday" surgeries that you can immediately incorporate.

- Both guided and freehand placement
- Concomitant prosthetic cornerstones
- Simultaneous extraction and implant placement
- Two stage surgeries

More experienced surgeons, who are comfortable with flap designs, suturing and other cornerstone surgical tenets will see more advanced scenarios.

- Full arch extraction cases with bone reduction and implant placement of an entire arch
- Sinus bumps
- Use of Versah burs
- Concomitant placement with GBR and PRF procedures

Course objectives

Following this course, participants can expect to be able to:

- assess key parameters and contraindications for safe and predictable implant placement
- understand appropriate pharmacology
- treatment plan for mandibular and maxillary bar implant-retained over dentures
- understand surgical protocols for guided vs. non-guided implant placement

Prerequisites

Prior didactic training is required. Please tell us your training and experience level and we will discuss with you any additional required training.

Questions and answers

Following the surgical sessions, all attendees will participate by sharing the challenges they faced and having an open opportunity to clarify any of the procedures demonstrated.

At the table

All attendees are invited to dinner with Dr. Rasner on Friday at a local restaurant. Up for discussion will be anything from practice management and growth tips to clinical gems to improve your productivity.
